Part 3: Short Talk Questions

Listen to the following paragraph and answer the questions.

Recently, NASA's first yearlong simulated Mars mission ended when the four volunteers emerged from their 3D-printed habitat at the Johnson Space Center. The crew members were selected using the same standards NASA applies when choosing astronauts. They spent 378 days living in a space of just 1,700 square feet to simulate the conditions of a real Mars mission. During the mission, the team grew and harvested vegetables and maintained the habitat. They also faced various challenges that could occur on an actual Mars mission, such as limited resources and communication delays with Earth. The mission is expected to provide insights that will help ensure the health and effectiveness of future astronauts. The data gathered should be highly useful in preparing for an actual manned mission to Mars, which NASA aims to launch in the late 2030s or early 2040s.

(11 Unit 1)

- (B) 12. What is NOT true about NASA's simulated Mars mission?
 (A) Four individuals participated in the project.
 (B) The volunteers were retired astronauts.
 (C) The crew members lived in a limited space.
 (D) It lasted for more than one year.
- (D) 13. What kind of tasks did the team perform during the mission?
 (A) Repairing their spaceship.
 (B) Mining resources on Mars.
 (C) Constructing their own home.
 (D) Growing and harvesting produce.
- (B) 14. What is the goal of the simulated mission?
 (A) To raise funds for future missions.
 (B) To prepare for a real Mars mission.
 (C) To let normal people experience life in space.
 (D) To find astronauts for a real Mars mission.
- (C) 15. When does NASA aim to launch a manned mission to Mars?
 (A) In the late 2020s.
 (B) In the early 2030s.
 (C) In the early 2040s.
 (D) By 2050.
