

113 學年度第 1 學期，一年級 (101~121)，英文科，期末考試題 A 卷 Answer

- 1~5. CDADB
- 6~10. ACBBA
- 11~15. ABCCB
- 16~20. CBDDB
- 21~25. BACDA
- 26~30. DBCBC
- 31~35. ADBDC
- 36~40. AACBD
- 41~43. ACD
- 44~48. BADCB
- 49~53. BADBC
- 54~58. ACDBC
- 59~63. C/AB/B/BC/D
- 64~68. A/BE/AC/E/AD
- 69~72. (每題 2 分) CBAD

V. Vocabulary (16%)

73. innocence	74. permitted	75. destructive	76. determination
77. overseas	78. potential	79. pursue	80. awareness
81. profitable	82. applicant	83. familiar	84. disaster
85. masterpieces	86. tragedy	87. photographer	88. reception

VI. Translation (8%) (一格一分，錯一字扣 0.5，每格不只一字) (第 92.93.94.95.96 題請依提示字作答)

89. When it comes to solving	90. get rid of
91. on the contrary	92. looking forward to attending
93. take advantage of	94. within reach
95. is likely to	96. make a living

Part A

- C 1. W: I was looking for my sister yesterday because I needed her to help me cook dinner. I thought she was sleeping, so I checked her room. However, she wasn't there. I finally found her in the living room, but she was busy chatting on the phone and didn't even notice me. In the end, I decided to start cooking myself.
Q: Which picture shows what the speaker's sister was doing when she found her?
- D 2. W: Excuse me, can you help me?
M: Sure, what do you need?
W: I have this wooden chair, and it has a nail sticking out of it.
M: Oh, I see.
W: It's dangerous. Someone could get hurt.
M: Let me get a hammer to push it down.
Q: What might the man be getting?

Part B

- A 3. Why did you nearly drown when you were three years old?
(A) Because I couldn't swim then.
(B) Because I ran too fast.
(C) Because I played with fire.
(D) Because I fell down from the stairs.
- D 4. I keep my mice in separate cages so they don't multiply.
(A) Yes, they could hurt each other if they fight.
(B) Really? Why don't your mice sleep?
(C) Yeah. That way, they'll play together.
(D) Good idea! You wouldn't want baby mice.
- B 5. Do you have a clue why it's so crowded here?
(A) No, I don't like it. It's too boring for me.
(B) Maybe there's a special event happening.
(C) No, there are fewer than 10,000 people here.
(D) True, I thought there would be fewer people.

Part C

- A 6. M: How long have we been walking?
W: About three hours. I think we are almost there.
M: Do you really think we will find the village?
W: We'll find it. My map is quite detailed.
Q: What does the woman say about the map?
(A) It contains lots of information.
(B) It doesn't show the village.
(C) It is missing a few towns.
(D) It cost a lot of money.
- C 7. W: Did you finish that magazine I lent you?
M: Yes, I read it yesterday evening.
W: What did you think about the articles?
M: They were really engaging.
Q: What does the man say about the articles in the magazine?

- (A) He thought they were too difficult to understand.
- (B) He didn't think the topics were interesting.
- (C) He found them enjoyable to read.
- (D) He didn't have time to read all of them.

B 8. M: Can your little brother read this book?

W: Yes, he reads quite well.

M: Are you sure it's not too difficult for him?

W: Well, he's capable of understanding most of the words in it.

Q: What does the woman say about her little brother?

(A) He wants someone to read this book to him.

(B) He knows many of the words in this book.

(C) He likes the pictures in this book.

(D) He doesn't like reading this book.

Part D

Read questions 9 and 10 before listening to the passage.

Today, I want to share something about Taiwanese night markets! Taiwanese night markets open in the evening and stay lively until late at night. These markets offer a wide variety of yummy treats in small portions, allowing visitors to try many different foods and flavors. Each market has its own charm. For example, at Ningxia Night Market in Taipei, you'll find special dishes like the famous oyster egg omelette. In Taichung, Feng Chia Night Market is one of the largest, drawing thousands of visitors daily. Down south, in Kaohsiung, Liuhe Night Market is popular with tourists, offering local dishes like eel noodles and Spanish mackerel soup. Besides food, night markets also have fun games and unique items to explore. There's always something exciting to discover!

B 9. What does the speaker say about serving food in small portions at night markets?

(A) It makes the food easier to prepare.

(B) It allows people to taste a variety of flavors.

(C) It helps people avoid waiting in line.

(D) It makes each dish cost less.

A 10. What is the speaker's attitude toward Taiwanese night markets?

(A) She finds them enjoyable.

(B) She thinks they are too crowded.

(C) She feels they are only for tourists.

(D) She thinks they lack variety.