

English Digest

1-5 ADBCB 6-8 DCD 9-11 ACB 12-17 DBBDCB 18-21 DBAA

Level 4&5

22-25 CADD 26-30 BADCA 31-35 ABCDA 36-40 BAABC
41-45 DCABA 46 D

三民課本 47-52 BDAAD B 53-58 DADCA B

Reading Highlights 59-64 C (AB) (BC) (AC) A E 65-68 BDAE

混合題 6% (一題 2 分)

(69-70 拼字錯誤或字形變化錯誤不給分；71 題答對一個答案得 1 分)

69. surviving	70. resilience	71. (B)(C)
---------------	----------------	------------

文意字彙 8% (一題 1 分)

72. vicious	73. oppression
74. despair	75. exile
76. obligation	77. wreck
78. scheme	79. penalty

翻譯 10% (請依題目提示作答，一題 1 分，一格不只一字，錯一字酌扣 0.5 分)

80. down in history	81. in the midst of frustration
82. did he lose faith	83. up for the right
84. live out his dream of	85. So profound is
86. stain your reputation	87. Although he asserted his integrity
88. receiving constructive guidance from her colleague	89. whichever/whatever color a person prefers

Listening Test

- A 1. Did reading this author's new book reinforce what you already thought about this subject? (Oct. Unit 12)
- (A) Yeah, now I find my beliefs even stronger than before.
- (B) Yes, the subject is too complicated to make a decision about.
- (C) Yeah, his opinions are a little too strange for my taste.
- (D) Yes, he convinced me to think the opposite way from before.
- D 2. During the meeting, the boss said that Carl has been indispensable to this company. (Nov. Unit 7)
- (A) I didn't know he was a new employee.
- (B) That explains why he got fired.
- (C) I agree. He is paid too much money.
- (D) He really has done a great job.

Part B 4%

In Part B, you will hear two conversations between a man and a woman, and then two questions following each conversation. Choose the best answer for each question.

Questions 3-4

M: What's going on at your office these days?

W: We're trying to recruit more salespeople.

M: Oh really? I applied for a position there last year.

W: Really? We've received lots of applications.

M: I heard over 500 people tried for just ten spots.

W: That's insane.

M: I know. The competition was really tough.

W: I'm not surprised you didn't get it.

- B 3. What is happening at the woman's office? (Nov. Unit 6)
- (A) The company is reducing the number of workers.
- (B) The company is looking for new employees.
- (C) The company is promoting current staff members.
- (D) The company is moving to a new location to increase sales.

- C 4. How does the woman react to the number of applications? (Nov. Unit 6)
- (A) She isn't shocked because this is normal for her industry.
- (B) She believes the number should have been higher.
- (C) She thinks it was crazy that so many people applied.
- (D) She is still confused about the application process.

Questions 5-6

M: Are you attending the farming workshop after work?

W: Yes, the talk is crucial before we start planting.

M: Oh, really? What is the main topic?

W: Well, the expert will explain how climate affects soil fertility.

M: I see. So, it's more than just crop rotation tips, right?

W: Exactly, the expert will also cover pest control.

M: In that case, I'll bring a notebook, since we might need to change some methods.

W: Good idea, and the Q&A session could answer practical questions.

- B 5. What is suggested about the farming workshop after work? (Oct. Unit 13)
- (A) It is entertaining but not really necessary.
  - (B) It is very important before planting.
  - (C) It is optional and can easily be skipped.
  - (D) It is mostly about the history of farming.
- D 6. What is the expert expected to explain about the soil? (Oct. Unit 13)
- (A) The cost of fertilizers in the market.
  - (B) The tools needed for planting vegetables.
  - (C) The color changes of soil in each season.
  - (D) The land's natural ability to produce crops.

Part C 2%

In Part C, you will hear one passage. Choose the best answer for each question.

(Read questions 7 and 8 before listening to the passage)

Have you ever heard of a pika? It's a tiny mountain mammal that doesn't hibernate. Instead, it gathers and dries plants during summer to survive the snowy winter! But pikas aren't the only animals with clever survival tricks. Take the kea, for example. It's the world's only alpine parrot and lives in the cold mountains of New Zealand. Keas are incredibly smart. They solve puzzles, use tools, and even play with each other. Their intelligence helps them adapt to harsh mountain life, just like pikas do in their own way. Now meet the naked mole-rat. These strange-looking creatures live underground in Africa. They can survive with almost no oxygen, barely feel pain, and rarely get cancer! Even more surprisingly, they live in a colony with a queen, just like ants or bees. These three animals may look very different, but they all show us one important thing: nature is full of amazing creatures. Pretty cool, right? (Oct. Unit 14)

- C 7. Why are keas described as unusual among parrots?
- (A) They can change their feathers to blend in with the mountains.
  - (B) They escape the cold by flying long distances each year.
  - (C) They are the only parrots that live in a cold region.
  - (D) They survive by storing nuts and berries in tree holes.
- D 8. What is true about the three animals in the talk?
- (A) They all protect themselves by forming groups with other species.
  - (B) They all depend on sleeping through winter to save their energy.
  - (C) They all survive by storing large amounts of food underground.
  - (D) They all show special skills that help them survive in difficult conditions.